ONLINE COURSE INTRODUCTION TO A3 PROBLEM SOLVING

Learning online does not mean learning alone. Minimize travel costs and maximize peer learning and instructor face-to-face time in an online environment that helps you to breakdown problem-solving using the A3 format.

By attending this remote workshop, you will be led by experienced coaches, allowing you the space & time you need to reflect and apply the learning along the way.

This approach helps you align around a problem at your company that is informed by real-time facts. Along the way you will receive feedback and support from peers and senior coaches.

This is a practical and interactive workshop that follows the book Managing to Learn by John Shook. It is designed to equip organisations on the lean journey and strengthen a culture of learning, problem-solving and scientific thinking.

Suitable to manufacturing, service, healthcare and public sector.
